

AFRICAN AMERICAN CULTURE, LEADERSHIP, AND SOCIAL ISSUES

AAS 2113 Spring 2024

In-person Tues/Thurs 11:30am-12:45pm

Dr. Marc Perry, Dept of Race, Ethnicity, Gender & Sexuality Studies

marc.perry@utsa.edu

This course offers a survey of varying ways African Americans have sought equity and human freedom through different moments and means of Black social organizing and struggle. Key figures and movements from enslaved rebellions to abolitionism and Garveyism, to the 1960s Black Freedom and recent Black Lives Matter Movements will be explored regarding how Black communities continue to imagine and create more just and equitable possibilities for African American life. (3 Credit hours)