The Department of Interdisciplinary Learning and Teaching Presents:

“The Power of Story in the Landscape of Memory and Identity”

UTSA Downtown Campus

Buena Vista Building Aula Canaria (I.328)

6:00 p.m.

Award-winning author and illustrator Yuyi Morales will share many of the personal stories that have influenced her work as an author and illustrator. She will also explore her immigrant story, which is a common theme in her books and illustrations. Morales is a five-time recipient of the Pura Belpré Medal and the 2004 winner of the Jane Addams Children's Book Award for her illustrations in "Harvesting Hope: The Story of Cesar Chavez." Her latest book, "Viva Frida," which she wrote and illustrated, was named a 2015 Caldecott Honor Book.

The event is FREE and open to the public.
