

The Myth of Anti-Intellectualism

Presented by Dr. Kevin Cokley
UTSA AAS Visiting Research Scholar

Dr. Cokley's research and scholarship challenges the notion that African American students are anti-intellectual, and critically re-examines the impact of racial and ethnic identity and gender on academic achievement. His work also evaluates the impact of the impostor phenomenon in academic and mental health outcomes, especially among ethnic minority students and women. Dr. Cokley is also a graduate member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

This event is sponsored by the UTSA African American Studies Program. For more information, contact AAS Director Karla Broadus at karla.broadus@utsa.edu.

8:45 a.m.

UTSA

The University of Texas at San Antonio

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT
AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES

Thursday
Oct
6

UTSA Main Campus
University Center
Denman Room 2.01.28

FREE and open to all UTSA students

If you need an accommodation to fully participate in this program/event, please contact Karla Broadus at 210-458-7623.

Please allow sufficient time to arrange the accommodation.