

MAS Digital Archives: Supporting the Innovative Teaching of Mexican American Studies Content in K-12 Classrooms

Workshop Dates:

Monday, July 26, 2021

and

Friday, July 30, 2021

Registration:

s.si.edu/2021sanantonio

Participants who register must attend both workshops. This two-part program is limited to 20 teachers who will receive a $250 stipend upon completion of both workshops and creation of a digital collection for the Smithsonian's Learning Lab. Teachers will also earn 3 Continuing Education Units for each workshop.

Participants will

- Engage in interactive, team-based explorations of Mexican American Studies material.
- Acquire classroom-ready strategies for engaging students with primary source materials (objects, documents, images, and oral histories) related to Mexican American Studies.
- Learn how to use digital resources and tools for the classroom available in the Smithsonian Learning Lab (learninglab.si.edu).
- Create new instructional materials that integrate Mexican American Studies content and pedagogy and can be shared with educators worldwide. (To browse instructional materials created during Year 1 of this project, see s.si.edu/ethnicstudies.)
- Provide feedback on the experience to contribute to the teaching of Ethnic Studies and Mexican American Studies across the country.
