

“Race and Globality: A Meditation on Scholarship & Place”

Hybrid Guest Lecture Series
ELPS Higher Education Program

Dr. Kristen Edwards

February 6, 2023

11am-12pm

Zoom: <https://utsa.zoom.us/j/92899141386>

Room FS 3.412

Dr. Kirsten T. Edwards is faculty in the department of Educational Policy Studies, as well as affiliate faculty for African & African Diaspora Studies, and the Center for Women's & Gender Studies at Florida International University in Miami, Florida. Dr. Edwards is co-editor of Race, Gender, and Curriculum Theorizing: Working in Womanish Ways and Black Women Theorizing Curriculum Studies in Colour and Curves, College Curriculum at the Crossroads: Women Of Color Reflect And Resist, as well as Learning from the Lived Experiences of Graduate Student Writers.

Dr. Edward guest lecturer presentation will chart important transitions and shifts in her scholarly journey. She will highlight touchstones that have led to her current research endeavors, concluding with a reflection on how this journey has shaped her reflections on HSIs in the global higher education tapestry.

For more information contact Dr. Alonzo M. Flowers
alonzo.flowers@utsa.edu